Your guide to Rockhurst University’s

Fraternity & Sorority Life

Welcome to Rockhurst University!

Your experience here will be like no other. The strong academic foundation at Rockhurst complemented by the Jesuit tradition of service and leadership, and the friendships you’ll form will make your college years some of the richest of your life.

One of the many outstanding aspects of Rockhurst is its award-winning fraternity and sorority life community. Currently, we have eight strong organizations. More than 500 Rockhurst students claim membership in a fraternity or sorority, and they all look forward to welcoming you to campus and letting you know about their organization. You’ll find each of our sororities and fraternities is unique in its history, mission and its members, but they all share four main purposes – developing excellence in leadership, scholarship, service, brotherhood and sisterhood.

Students join fraternities and sororities through a process called recruitment. Rockhurst follows a deferred recruitment system, which does not allow first-semester freshmen to affiliate with a fraternity or sorority until at least 12 academic hours have been completed with a cumulative GPA of at least 2.5. Deferred recruitment provides incoming students a chance to get to know the University and make the necessary adjustments to life away from home during their first semester before joining a fraternity or sorority.

Joining a fraternity or sorority has many benefits and responsibilities. The average GPA of fraternities and sororities is significantly higher than the average Rockhurst student GPA. By joining a fraternity or sorority, you will have strong academic support. Membership also provides opportunities to develop leadership and organizational skills, and to participate in a variety of community service activities. And most important, the friends you make through fraternity and sorority involvement will be friends for life. Rockhurst University fraternities and sororities are consistently recognized by their national organizations for their success in academics, philanthropy, and overall chapter excellence. This is a testament to the strength of our chapters at Rockhurst.

Hopefully this has given you a brief introduction to fraternity and sorority life at Rockhurst. We invite you to learn more about the largest student organization at Rockhurst by looking through this booklet, attending our fall information nights and visiting our website at www.rockhurst.edu/greeklife. Our website gives you detailed descriptions of all our organizations. We look forward to meeting you.

Foundational to life at Rockhurst University is our mission of “Learning, Leadership and Service in the Jesuit Tradition.” The mission is woven throughout Greek life at Rockhurst in a variety of ways.

LEARNING
We place a strong emphasis on academics, including time management workshops and mandatory study hours. The result is that the fraternity and sorority grade-point average (GPA) is higher than the University average. In fact, all individual chapters are above the University average.

LEADERSHIP
Fraternity and sorority members are actively involved in almost every other aspect of campus life and student organizations:

- Fraternity or sorority members consistently lead organizations such as Student Senate, Social Activities Board and Homecoming.
- Rockhurst fraternity and sorority members are highly involved in Orientation, act as Social Mentors, work with Campus Ministry and participate on almost all Rockhurst athletic teams.
- Greeks are involved in the greater Kansas City community, participating in internships with local companies such as Cerner, Sprint, Hallmark, Stowers Institute for Medical Research, Big Brothers/Big Sisters and the American Humanics National Office, as well as coaching local middle and high school athletic teams.

SERVICE
Greeks are leaders in campus and community-wide service projects. Member participation in service projects not only benefits the community, but it facilitates personal growth and greater unity among members. Each Greek organization raises money for a national philanthropy through special events. Additionally, each organization participates in raising funds and awareness for local philanthropies by helping sponsor events such as blood drives, canned-food drives, an annual haunted house and National Youth Service Day.
FAQs

What are the criteria to join a fraternity or sorority?

To go through recruitment, each new first-year student must register for recruitment and have completed a minimum 12 academic hours at Rockhurst (hours taken in high school may not count toward that 12). Transfer students may participate if they have completed a minimum of 12 academic hours at another institution (courses taken in high school do not count toward that 12) and meet the minimum grade-point average requirement. Students must be enrolled full time, have at least a 2.5 GPA, and may not be on disciplinary probation. Some fraternities and sororities may require higher academic eligibility requirements. Men must attend an IFC open house to participate in recruitment. Women are highly encouraged to attend the Panhellenic open houses and Fall Party.

Why do people join fraternities and sororities?

Philanthropic projects, community service, tradition, career networking, social opportunities and becoming part of an international organization are all reasons mentioned for becoming a member of a fraternity or sorority, but the one cited most often by members is the sense of brotherhood/sisterhood. The element of brotherhood/sisterhood is nonetheless a difficult attribute to convey to men and women interested in joining. It is a feeling of togetherness, support and teamwork. It is companionship, personal discovery, challenge and awareness.

Are fraternities and sororities like the ones in the movies and on TV?

Fictional accounts from Animal House, Revenge of the Nerds, Road Trip, Old School, the television show Greek and the news media tend to focus on, and exaggerate, the social aspect of fraternity and sorority life, as opposed to all the impressive, multidimensional benefits of membership.

Rockhurst has a strong, vibrant fraternity and sorority community and social functions do occur but these events are tightly controlled for the safety of members and guests. Beyond that, the fraternities and sororities also host many service and philanthropic events and other activities entirely without alcohol, and all fraternities and sororities oppose hazing because it has no place in organizations based on mutual respect and shared values.

How much time does fraternity or sorority membership require?

Like most other worthwhile extracurricular activities, how much you get out of your fraternity/sorority membership is related to how much you put in. On average, expect to contribute three to six hours per week for meetings and mandatory activities. Optional activities, such as holding an office, attending social events, playing on an intramural sports team, or helping out with various projects will, of course, take additional time. Some organizations require more time than others. Be sure to ask questions regarding time commitments during recruitment.
