Master of Science in Communication Sciences and Disorders

Application Checklist

☐ 1. Complete the graduate application for admission to the School of Graduate and Professional Studies.

☐ 2. Complete the essay (Form A).

☐ 3. Send two official transcripts from each college or university previously attended.

☐ 4. Request three recommendations (Form B) to be sent directly to Rockhurst University’s Office of Graduate Admission. Of the three recommendations, at least two must be from current or former instructors.

☐ 5. Send GRE scores.

☐ 6. Mail materials to:
   Rockhurst University
   Michele Huiatt
   Office of Graduate Admission
   1100 Rockhurst Road
   Kansas City, MO 64110-2561

We recommend applications be completed and submitted as soon as possible to ensure a timely decision by the admission committee and eligibility for financial aid.

Graduates will be eligible for state licensure in Kansas and Missouri.

The speech-language pathology master’s program is accredited by the Council on Academic Accreditation of the American Speech-Language and Hearing Association (ASHA).

Rockhurst University is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission, a commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, 30 North LaSalle Street, Suite 2400, Chicago, Illinois 60602-2504, (800) 621-7440.
Candidates for the Master’s Degree in Communication Sciences and Disorders must meet the following criteria:

1. An undergraduate degree in communication sciences and disorders (or equivalent area) from an accredited college or university; or an undergraduate degree in another discipline plus course work equivalent to the major field of concentration of the Rockhurst University undergraduate program in communication sciences and disorders. Undergraduate preparation must consist of at least 36 semester credit hours that reflect a well integrated program of study including: a) biological sciences; b) physical sciences; c) the behavioral and/or social sciences, including normal aspects of human behavior and communication; d) mathematics; and e) the nature, prevention, evaluation and treatment of speech, language, hearing and related disorders. Some course work must address issues pertaining to normal and abnormal human development and behavior across the life span and to culturally diverse populations;*

2. A minimum GPA of 3.00 (on a 4.00 scale) and a 3.00 GPA or better in the undergraduate major;

3. Strong performance on the verbal, quantitative, and analytical components of the GRE;

4. Excellent oral and written communication skills;

5. Strong personal commitment to advanced study and service in communication disorders; and

6. All other requirements for admission to graduate study (see Application Checklist).

In addition, the candidates must have completed the following prerequisite courses or demonstrate the ability to complete such while enrolled in the graduate program at Rockhurst University: one ethics course, one philosophy course, plus four additional courses in the humanities.

Those students interested in obtaining certification as speech-language specialists in the state of Missouri should expect to complete additional course requirements. Students may enroll in courses available at Rockhurst or at other CAA-accredited institutions as appropriate to make up any CSD undergraduate deficiencies. Once a student has been accepted into the graduate program, he or she must maintain a 3.0 grade point average in all remaining prerequisite courses.

For further information regarding accreditation, please correspond with:

ASHA
10801 Rockville Pike
Rockville, MD 20852-3279

* Post-Baccalaureate Prep Track
Rockhurst University offers a post-bachelor’s Prep Track in communication sciences and disorders which allows individuals who hold undergraduate degrees in disciplines other than CSD to complete all required and related course work necessary for admission to a graduate program, whether at Rockhurst or at any other institution. Upon successful completion of the Prep Track program, students will progress to graduate status.
Each graduate program requires additional application materials. Please review the accompanying program checklist for specific requirements. The applicant is responsible for the completeness of the application.
